1 (COMMENCING AT APPROXIMATELY 1:40 p.m.)

2 THE CLERK: Your Honor, this is Case No.
3 5:19-cr-66, Defendant Number One. The 4 United States of America versus Jeremiah Ruhl. The 5 government is present through Assistant United 6 States Attorney Joseph Perella who is participating 7 by telephone. Also present in the courtroom is the 8 Defendant with his attorney Michelle Anderson
9 Barth. Also present by telephone is attorney 10 Steven Barth. And the matter before the court is a 11 Violation Hearing.

12 THE COURT: Well, my understanding is that 13 we're having a little bit of difficulty with Zoom.
14 I can actually see both counsel, Mr. Barth and 15 Mr. Perella. And I also can hear both. I think 16 that you can hear me, but you can't see the 17 courtroom; is that right?

18 MR. PERELLA: That's correct, Your Honor. At 19 least I can't from Rutland. Maybe because I'm in 20 Chuck Peruso's old office.

21 THE COURT: Well, that could be. Right, and 22 yeah. He did have some difficulties with 23 Burlington, as I recall.

24 Having said that, I think we can proceed in 25 light of the fact that both counsel are here for

1 Mr. Ruhl.

2 Any objection to proceeding with this limited
3 problem with Zoom?

4 MS. BARTH: No, Your Honor.

5 MR. PERELLA: No, Your Honor.

6 MR. BARTH: This is Steve Barth. Mr. Perella,
7 I can't see you, but every once in a while you 8 break up, so if I don't answer you right way it's 9 only because --

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BARTH: -- occasional --

12 THE COURT: Well, it's unclear which Barth is 13 taking lead in this particular hearing. I'm sure 14 you must have arranged --

15 MR. BARTH: Pretty clear to me --

16 THE COURT: Yeah, right. All right.

17 So Mr. Ruhl was at drug court. He admitted to 18 use of cocaine. He also had difficulties in 19 reporting for testing. And I then found that he 20 violated his terms of release, conditions of 21 release, ordered that he be detained.

22 My question is, is there some resolution in 23 regard to Mr. Ruhl's situation?

24 MS. BARTH: Your Honor, we hope so. Mr. Ruhl
25 has taken a great deal of initiative since the last

1 time we met. Mr. Ruhl has been introspective and 2 looked for the reasons why he made such serious 3 mistakes here.

4 He took initiative in finding a sober living 5 environment which would take him away from his 6 camp. It would surround him with people who are in 7 recovery and offer some oversight, some 8 accountability and some focus.

9 As Your Honor may recall about a month and a 10 half ago he was diagnosed with ADHD. And he has 11 never taken any sort of medication for it. I think 12 we've seen some of the symptoms of that in drug 13 court. He has some distractions. He's jumped from 14 employment to employment. And he is hardworking 15 and smart; he sometimes lacks focus. And that lack 16 of focus I think has interfered with his success in 17 the program.

18 First Step Recovery has a bed available for 19 him today. Mr. Ruhl on his own put down a $500 20 deposit to reserve that bed availability. I've 21 talked to Shauna LaPierre about the program. It's 22 a program that offers some oversight, some 23 accountability and would make continued 24 participation in drug court more rigorous because 25 it includes 30 days of meetings at the outset.

1 So if Your Honor were to agree with the 2 release plan and allow him to remain in the drug 3 court program he would be required to go to 30 days
4 of meetings, he would check in to First Step
5 Recovery today.

6 I spoke with First Step today, Mike Prescott, 7 who screened Mr. Ruhl. So we have 30 days of 8 meetings. After that he would have three mandatory 9 meetings with the house weekly where he checks in 10 with the other members of the program as well as 11 the more senior staff to go over his progress to 12 see what troubles he is having.

13 I've spoken to -- well, corresponded with 14 Christine Hayner and it was like a treatment
15 through MRT would be good for him, continued 16 treatment in MRT would be good for him. He has had 17 periods of success where as Your Honor has noted he 18 has done extraordinarily well. Based on those 19 periods of success I think that's why probation is 20 on board with his continued participation in the 21 program as well as continuing here at the Howard
22 Center.

23 Also, he would be subject to treatment UAs at 24 random through the First Step Recovery program.
25 And they have a zero tolerance policy. So if he

1 fails any drug testing there he will be immediately 2 kicked out of the program. He can remain in the 3 program for the duration of drug court.

4 If Your Honor sees fit and wants to impose a
5 stricter curfew, the house already imposes a curfew 6 between 7:00 a.m. in the morning and 10:00 p.m. at 7 night, but they also have members of the house who 8 are part of the DOC system. So if the Court were 9 to impose stricter curfews so that would serve 10 Mr. Ruhl on a very tight leash. The house will 11 assist in that regard and honor those curfews as 12 well.

13 Mr. Ruhl, I may have mentioned this already, 14 made an appointment with the primary care physician 15 for tomorrow. He is clinically diagnosed with 16 ADHD. He has done some research on his own about 17 treatment and plans to pursue a treatment by use of 18 Adderall which he also thinks will assist him in 19 focusing on his sobriety and never losing that 20 focus.

21 He's lined up work. It's not set in stone 22 yet, but it looks like he has a job making snow at 23 Smugglers' Notch which he would agree to stick with 24 and not jump from job to job through the season.
25 So with employment lined up through winter season,

1 a place to live that has much more significant 2 oversight than what he had before, much more 3 accountability, and a regimen of medicine that will 4 assist in behaviors that have gotten in the way of 5 his success, we think he is worth taking a chance 6 here and I think that's why probation agrees with 7 us as well as Christine Hayner at the Howard
8 Center.

9 I don't know what the prosecutor's position is 10 on it, what Joe Perella's position is, but we hope
11 that Your Honor will consider that in giving 12 Mr. Ruhl another chance. And I know he was up all 13 night worried about this; he would like to address
14 the Court personally.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Ruhl, tell me why you
16 think this is a good idea.

17 THE WITNESS: Well, because I have given it my 18 all before and -- having trouble putting the words
19 together, but I know that we've been here before, 20 we've been in this position before, but I have 21 not -- and I'm sorry for that. But I haven't -- 22 I'm sorry that I didn't give it my all and I wasn't 23 honest a couple of times.

24 THE COURT: Why, why were you not giving it 25 your all?

1 THE WITNESS: I don't know.

2 THE COURT: Because there were various times
3 in which --

4 THE WITNESS: I know.

5 THE COURT: -- you were doing very well.

6 THE WITNESS: Sometimes I did give it my all 7 and other times I kind of lost sight, lost my 8 focus. And I could have done better.

9 THE COURT: And you think that being in a 10 sober house with a number of other people is going 11 to be helpful --

12 THE WITNESS: I do.

13 THE COURT: -- at this point?

14 And why do you think that?

15 THE WITNESS: Because it always -- it seems 16 like, well, it's hard to explain. It's like it was 17 I'm always focusing on sobriety and that's what we 18 do there. We come back, have a meeting at night, 19 meeting in the morning. And I think it will work.
20 It will work. I won't let you down this time.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Perella, what's your 22 response?

23 MR. PERELLA: Your Honor, the government
24 defers to you. If Mr. Ruhl has convinced you that 25 he's going to try harder to comply with his

1 conditions, try harder to abide by the drug court
2 expectations, then the government does not oppose 3 release.

4 But a few points, Your Honor, a couple of 5 points. One of the things, frustrating parts of 6 Mr. Ruhl's tenure at drug court, I think it feels 7 like the drug court team put more effort into his 8 recovery than Mr. Ruhl does. And that has to stop.
9 I think a basic rule of recovery, the book that, 10 well, stupid things that mess up my recovery is if 11 you put less effort in your recovery than you do in 12 your addiction, and Mr. Ruhl has to turn this 13 around.

14 Finally, Your Honor, it struck me last week in 15 drug court where Jed said that he didn't really 16 feel -- I'm paraphrasing, I may have it slightly 17 wrong. But he said something to the effect of that 18 he wasn't that disappointed in himself. And I 19 think he's setting to lower the standard for 20 himself. We all believe he has great potential and 21 he shouldn't be complacent that he's come a little 22 bit and that's good enough. Because he can go a 23 lot further when he puts his mind to it, as we have 24 seen for short periods of his drug court
25 participation.

1 Thank you, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Well, let me describe my reaction, 3 Mr. Ruhl. You are very difficult to understand in 4 drug court. Because number one, you have a lot of 5 sophistication, you have intelligence, you have a 6 lot to offer the community and, more importantly, 7 you have a lot to offer yourself.

8 And so everybody -- I will speak for everybody
9 here -- sees so much potential in you. I mean, 10 they see potential in drug court. You could easily 11 complete drug court without any difficulties if you 12 made a decision to commit yourself to finish drug 13 court successfully. No question you have that 14 ability.

15 And people look at your slips, and I will 16 speak for myself, as just, you know, what a 17 mistake, what a digression from progress. I mean, 18 you have work skills, you have social skills. You 19 can do just extraordinarily well if you put your 20 mind to it.

21 So then you come in last week and said, well, 22 you know you used cocaine, somebody, this thing 23 overnight because they have trouble getting back to 24 their house. And then they take out a line of 25 cocaine. Well, of course, you use it. And you

1 describe your reaction to being confronted with a 2 potential of using cocaine, and so this is just 3 sort of a normal thing.

4 Well, it's not a normal thing. You are in 5 drug court. You are under federal supervision and 6 that's a clear violation of everything that drug 7 court is about and everything that the federal 8 government is about in terms of supervising you in 9 your recovery.

10 THE WITNESS: (Inaudible.)

11 THE COURT: Now, I hear that you're -- that 12 you want to try this and I agree completely. I 13 also heard that you look around and you see other 14 people who have graduated from drug court that 15 started with you, why are you here after, you know, 16 so much time? All it takes is commitment. And 17 maybe it is ADHD. Maybe it is just a lack of real 18 understanding about addiction or maybe it's just a 19 lack of commitment to recovery. I mean, I don't 20 know that.

21 But I am going to give you this option to try 22 to get through it. I mean, how much are you into 23 the second phase? What is your time?

24 THE WITNESS: Four weeks, I believe.

25 THE COURT: I mean, you have been in drug

1 court for a year. And all of those slides, it 2 just -- it can't happen anymore.

3 So no question that I felt last week that that 4 was it, that you're just never going to make it.
5 This might be an option. You are surrounded with 6 people who are engaged actively in recovery with no
7 tolerance. You know, this could be what you need.

8 All right. So I'm going to release you under 9 the terms and conditions as follows: That you
10 report to this program -- the name of the program 11 again, Ms. Barth, is what?

12 MS. BARTH: First Step Recovery.

13 THE COURT: First Step Recovery. And if you
14 participate fully in that program, that you sign a 15 waiver so that the probation office can speak with 16 people at Recovery. And that you abide by all the 17 terms and conditions of participation in that 18 program. So that if you violate any of those terms
19 and conditions, for instance, if you use or if you
20 violate any other conditions and are terminated -- 21 you would be terminated from that program, then you 22 would be coming right back into court at this 23 point.

24 On the other hand, I will say to you that 25 everyone on the team is really hoping that you

1 succeed. And, frankly, that's true of me as well.
2 I mean, you've got people who are very committed to 3 doing things to help you, but more than that they 4 are really rooting for you. And then when you fail 5 like you did last week, I mean, that's a slap at 6 them, it's a slap at the program, and it's really 7 discouraging.

8 So I really hope that you use this to turn 9 things around.

10 All right. And is your camp all locked up?

11 THE WITNESS: Yes, winterized.

12 THE COURT: All right. So tonight you go to 13 this program. Let's start again. And my guess is 14 that you probably have, what, another eight months?
15 Something like that.

16 THE WITNESS: Yes, it will be almost to the 17 day when I graduate, May 15th.

18 THE COURT: May 15th, all right. Let's see.

19 THE WITNESS: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. PERELLA: Best wishes, you can do that.

22 THE WITNESS: Thank you, Joe.

23 (The Violation Hearing was concluded at 24 approximately 2:00 p.m.)
